The Crime Severity Index (CSI)¹ was 2% higher than in 2017, marking the 4th consecutive increase after 11 years of declines. The rise in Canada's CSI in 2018 was the result of increases in numerous offences, most notably, fraud, sexual assault (level 1), shoplifting of $5,000 and under, and theft over $5,000.

Only 31% of violent and non-violent incidents were reported to police.
